MCKINLEYVILLE – Incorporation, a town center, a Vista Point park and improved trail patrols were among the topics discussed Jan. 23 during the annual State of McKinleyville meeting.

More than 130 people packed Azalea Hall for the event, sponsored by the McKinleyville Chamber of Commerce and featuring a who's-who of leaders representing county departments and local government.

'Justice for Josiah'

Those who attended the evening meeting were greeted outside the front door by about a dozen protesters demanding justice for David Josiah Lawson, a 19-year-old Humboldt State student who was stabbed to death April 15, 2017 at a house party in Arcata.

"What do we want?" yelled a protester, prompting his fellow protesters to yell back "Justice for Josiah!"

"When do we want it?" he asked.

"Now!" they responded in unison, repeating the chant over and over.

Among those on the panel inside Azalea Hall was Distinct Attorney Maggie Fleming. Protesters outside held signs calling for Fleming be to recalled from office, even though she ran unopposed in the June primary and received 98.02 percent of the vote.

Arcata Police reboots its enforcement approach to crime-addled 'hood

Kevin L. Hoover

VALLEY WEST – With new leadership and new law enforcement challenges in Valley West, the Arcata Police Department is reapproaching its enforcement priorities for Arcata's northernmost neighborhood.

Last Thursday at the Hampton Inn on Valley West Boulevard, APD hosted a community meeting to ask area businesses and residents what problems they would like police to focus on. The hotel's Sequoia Room was filled to capacity with Valley Westers, many disgruntled over deteriorating working conditions there.

First up was Neighborhood Watch organizer Ginger Campbell, who pitched a possible Business Watch for Valley West – something which, despite meetings, she hasn't been able to get downtown Arcata businesses to get behind. McKinleyville, however, benefits from an active Business Watch.

Campbell, dubbed "the Pro from Dover" by always-witty Officer David Miller, said businesses stand to benefit by knowing each other, sharing information and training their employees in how to respond to emergency situations.

"It really works," Campbell said. "We need to build pride in our Valley West area."

Mild-mannered Chief Brian Ahearn, who has been getting the lay of the land on his multi-neighborhood listening tour over the last few months, showed slightly sterner stuff in managing the crowd. He steered attendees away from the time-consuming twin temptations of storytelling and grievance litigation that often dominate such gatherings. He also kept a lid on politics in favor of scoping the wishes of 'Westers.

"Don't regurgitate what you've already told me," he said. "Today is about creating the plan, or at least starting one."

He asked that attendees first enumerate the crime and quality of life issues they're dealing with, and of those, there was no shortage.

Businesspeople mentioned loitering, trespassing, shoplifting, drinking, drug dealing, needle litter, encampments, shopping cart theft, human waste, serial offenders and more. The area's empty fields tend to incubate encamp-

VALLEY WEST – California Walks has released its report, including recommendations, following the Arcata-Valley West Community Pedestrian and Bicycle Safety Training (CPBST) in August 2018.

The report is currently being translated into Spanish, with the translation expected by March. You may access the English version of the report on the California Walks and SafeTREC websites. californiawalks.org, safetrec.berkeley.edu

The CPBST for Valley West included a review of community planning documents, analysis and mapping of pedestrian and bicycle injury data, identification of priority discussion topics and the site tour.

The report identifies Valley West as a disadvantaged, predominantly Latino community which is geographically separated from the rest of town.

Among the problems identified in the report are missing and obstructed sidewalks, inadequate signage, challenging crossings, poor lighting, roundabouts that are difficult for pedestrians to traverse, inadequate and trashed bus stops, unsafe traffic conditions, housing insecurity, unkempt vegetation, lack of shade trees and other issues.

The report includes community recommendations for bicycle education, neighborhood speed watch and education, crossing improvements, expanded bikeshare, better lighting, better signage and more.

Better Point In Time homeless count expected this year

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT – Improving the effectiveness of estimating the homeless population was discussed as Humboldt County embarked on a bi-annual "point in time" count.

The point in time count that was done on January 23 follows what is said to be an ineffective previous effort in 2017. That year's count tallied 759 homeless people, which is considered an underestimate.

Issues related to homelessness were discussed by the county's Board of Supervisors at its Jan. 22 meeting as $2.5 million of state homelessness emergency aid funding was formally accepted.

During a public comment session, Blue Lake resident Kent Sawatsky questioned whether the county's 2017 underestimate has affected the county's overall level of funding. He told supervisors, "That kind of error shouldn't happen."

Board Chair Rex Bohn credited county Health and Human Services Director Connie Beck for marshalling a re-organization of the counting effort.

"One of the first things Connie did was realize that the point in time count was not working and she took the bull by the horns and changed the whole approach," he said. "I appreciate that she was willing to say, 'Hey, we didn't do it right last time, we're gonna get it right this time.'"

Beck said about 140 volunteers would be working on the count along with her department's staff. She acknowledged that there are fewer volunteers outside of urban areas but "we have people that are willing to go anywhere they're needed."

She added, "We're going to do the best job possible getting a more accurate number than we've had in the past."

McKinleyville | City?

❖ FROM A1

The recall effort was somewhat muted the day after the protest, when Charmain Lawson, the homicide victim's mother, met with Fleming and other law enforcement officials to discuss the case. She reportedly expressed some satisfaction with the D.A.'s efforts and said it appeared that an arrest would be made in the case.

Arcata Police wrapped up its homicide investigation and handed the case over to the District Attorney two and half months ago. Fleming has said her department needs more time to get more information on the analysis of blood found on a knife. Fleming said her office also needs additional information on a second issue, which she did not identify.

Incorporation

Attendees at the State of McKinleyville meeting were encouraged to submit written questions to moderator Ken Hamik of CommUnity Pride & Peace. The first question asked why McKinleyville is not incorporated and whether becoming a city is feasible.

"This is a question that comes up every year," said panelist Steven Madrone, who is the Fifth District Supervisor and was just sworn in earlier this month, taking over the seat from Ryan Sundberg.

The problem, Madrone explained, is that there's a state law that prevents new cities from taking revenues from counties. The City of McKinleyville would not be allowed to take fees and taxes generated from the McKinleyville area that are now going to the County of Humboldt, unless the county agrees to give up the money.

Madrone said that he plans to bring before the Board of Supervisors a request that various county departments track both expenditures in McKinleyville and revenues generated in the unincorporated community.

These numbers would give the community the factual data needed to help decide the issue.

"Now we can look at that, and if the county's making money on McKinleyville, we can argue for more services," Madrone said. "If they are losing money on McKinleyville maybe they [the county] want to get out from underneath the city."

Madrone said the idea that residents might pay more taxes if McKinleyville incorporates often stops the discussion. But, he said, it's not known whether a tax hike would be necessary.

"We don't know that that's the case," Madrone said.

And even if cityhood did come with higher taxes, residents might be willing to pay them if they can see the benefits, Madrone said, noting the passage of the Measure Z public safety tax and its modified extension, Measure O.

"I do believe this community deserves to have that opportunity to have an informed discussion, factually, so we can understand what it would take to do that [incorporate]," Madrone said.

Bus system

McKinleyville is served by the Humboldt Transit Authority, which operates a county wide bus system. HTA buses pass through McKinleyville, traveling north and south and picking up riders along the way. However, the system is designed to transport riders to other cities and towns, not to get around McKinleyville.

Madrone said that he wants to see a local McKinleyville bus system established. He may take the matter up with the Humboldt County Association of Governments (HCAOG), on which Madrone as an alternate member. HCAOG is a regional transportation planning agency and helps dole out transportation dollars.

Trail patrol

Sheriff William Honsal informed the crowd that his department is training deputies on how to ride ATVs and will soon use them to patrol the Hammond Trail and nearby parks. Honsal said he's working with the McKinleyville Community Services District to find a spot to store the off-road vehicles.

Honsal said his department is working with the website crimegraphics.com, which will soon map crime in McKinleyville and allow residents to spot problem areas and trends.

Town Center

Two major planning issues for McKinleyville will soon be discussed, one as early as tonight, Jan. 30, said John Ford, the director of Humboldt County Planning and Building.

Several properties are proposed for rezoning to make them consistent with the Humboldt County General Plan. A discussion about those rezones will take place at tonight's meeting of the McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee, which meets at 6 p.m. at the McKinleyville Middle School Conference Center, 2275 Central Ave. in McKinleyville. (See McKinleyville Matters column on B2.)

The other major planning issue is the creation of a town center ordinance.

The town's growth blueprint, the McKinleyville Community Plan, was passed by the Board of Supervisors in 2002. It designated a town center area, which extends from Pierson Park to McKinleyville Avenue, and from Railroad Drive to an area just south of Hiller Road. It also includes the commercial area north of Heartwood Drive where the Burger King and other businesses are located.

The largest undeveloped area is located behind the McKinleyville Shopping Center. There are also some undeveloped parcels along the south side of Hiller Road. Most of this land is owned by Anne Pierson, which means the future of most of the town center is in the hands of a single person. Pierson has voiced support for the town center concept, but has said she's not in a financial position to develop the property.

Although there's an area designated as a Town Center, the county never created an ordinance that would spell out what would be required of new development in the area to make the projects consistent with the pedestrian-friendly, walkable, community oriented vision outlined in the general plan. The process of creating that ordinance, and determining the future of the town center, may start in April, Ford said.

Vista Point

Madrone said he's pushing for the creation of a Vista Point park, which he hopes would be a popular stop for tourists, who would then come into town and spend money. The county owns acreage near the Vista Point off U.S. Highway 101 north of Airport Road adjacent to the Hammond Trail.

Madrone is proposing that the area be developed as a park with a visitor's center.

Forum set on Pres. Rossbacher’s successor

HUMBOLDT STATE UNIVERSITY
HUMBOLDT STATE – The California State University (CSU) Board of Trustees is beginning the search for a new president of Humboldt State University (HSU) to succeed Dr. Lisa Rossbacher, who is retiring in June 2019.

The first meeting of the Trustees’ Committee for the Selection of the President will be held in an open forum on Monday, Feb. 4 from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Kate Buchanan Room in the University Center Building on the HSU campus. The open meeting will be followed by a closed meeting.

Community members may park at the D Street Neighborhood Center at 1301 D Street, in the north parking lot only, from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. Shuttle service will be provided to and from the Kate Buchanan Room in the University Center Building. For more information, please call (707) 826-3311.

The open forum will be web-streamed live (and web-archived)

Lisa A. Rossbacher

on the President Search webpage, where individuals may also provide their input.

CSU Trustee Peter J. Taylor will chair the committee. The other trustee members include Jane Carney, Emily Hinton and John Nilon as well as Trustee Chairman Adam Day and CSU Chancellor Timothy P. White.

Board policy requires the chair of the CSU trustees to appoint an Advisory Committee to the Trustees’ Committee. The Advisory Committee is composed of representatives from the faculty, staff, students and alumni, as well as a member of a campus advisory board, all of whom are selected by the campus’ constituency groups.

Also on the Advisory Committee is an administrator from the campus, and a president of another CSU campus – both selected by the chancellor. Both committees function as one unified group.

Members of the Advisory Committee for the Selection of the President include:

- HSU faculty members Renée M. Byrd, Ph.D., assistant professor, Sociology, and Jim Graham, Ph.D., associate professor, Environmental Science and Management
- Stephanie Burkhalter, Ph.D., chair, HSU University Senate
- Amanda Staack, student support coordinator, Indian Natural Resources, Science and Engineering Program (INRSEP) and Diversity in STEM (staff representative)
- Yadira Cruz (student representative)
- Manolo Platin Morales, president, CSU Alumni Council (alumni representative)
- Alisa Judge, chair, HSU Advancement Foundation Board (campus advisory board representative)
- Cheryl L. Johnson, Psy.D., executive director, HSU Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion
- Community representatives Buster Attebery, chairman, Karuk Tribe and Joellen Clark-Peterson, executive director, Arcata Chamber of Commerce
- Leroy M. Morishita, Ed.D., president of California State University, East Bay

The purpose of the meeting in an open forum is to review the role of the committee, explain the search process and confidentiality, and receive input from the campus community and public regarding preferred attributes of the next president.

Over the next several months, the committee will review candidates and conduct interviews.

ments, which travelers use as bases of operation. Other sites dense with campers include the freeway overpasses and Wymore Road, which lies in the county just outside Arcata city limits.

Ahearn said he’s contact Caltrans about problems on the agency’s property. A Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputy in attendance said that a multi-agency cleanup effort will be mounted on Wymore Road next week, with the assistance of John Shelter’s New Directions organization.

Ahearn repeatedly stressed that APD has only 26 officers, so any crimebusting has got to be tightly focused. “That’s not an excuse, but you need to know that,” he said.

Valley West activist Lucy Salazar said efforts to organize an outdoor family movie night failed due to safety concerns, and that many residents are afraid to use Carlson Park for Mad River access because of sketchy individuals in the area.

Ahearn asked attendees to place dots on pieces of butcher paper at the rear of the room, each of which listed problems the attendees had mentioned.

Problems gaining the most dots were: loitering and panhandling, drug activity, empty lots and vacant businesses, and encampments.

Ahearn vowed to continue outreach and step up enforcement.

“We’re going to continue working shoulder to shoulder with you,” he said. “Don’t be patient.”

Added Ahearn, “It’d be great if Valley West could create the model for the rest of the county.”

Humboldt State releases Draft EIR for Trinity Annex parking lot project

MAD RIVER UNION
ARCATA – The draft Environmental Impact Report for Humboldt State’s Trinity Annex Project has been posted online at facilitymgmt.humboldt.edu/trinity-annex-project. It is also available at HSU offices located at 1 Harpst St., Arcata, and at the Arcata Branch Public Library, at 500 Seventh St.

The project was unveiled to the public last July at the D Street Neighborhood Center, where comment on the draft EIR was taken.

The proposed project involves the demolition of the existing Trinity Annex (the former Trinity Hospital) and conversion of the site into a surface parking lot with approximately 13,000 square feet of greenspace space located along the west and south sides of the parking lot.

A bus shelter, benches, bicycle parking, and a bike repair station would also be constructed on the project site, along 14th Street.

The project would involve alteration of the public right-of-way to provide two bus berths along 14th Street, where a bus stop presently exists, two bus parking berths along B Street, and approximately 83 vehicle spaces for HSU permit parking.

Vehicle access to the site would be provided via a driveway on 13th Street.

HSU is soliciting comments on the Draft EIR for inclusion in the Final EIR. The Draft EIR is available for public review and comment until 5 p.m. on March 11, 2019. Comments on the Dra must be submitted by the close of the review period.

PIT count | ‘Very efficient, very effective, much-needed’

minated this year’s point in time count. He said that this time, the use of a “blitz methodology” allows the tallying of people who are apparently homeless but refuse contact with counters.

He said those issues along with inadequate organization, particularly in Southern Humboldt, affected counts in the recent past that are believed to be under-estimates.

The 2015 point in time count tallied 1,180 homeless people. Ward said the clearing of homeless encampments could have contributed to the drop to 759 in 2017.

The reduction was noticeable in Eureka, he continued, where the number of counted individuals dropped from 500 to about 200. “In between that time, we had the Palco Marsh clearing,” Ward said. “I think that people that are camping in an open, notorious way are a lot easier to include in the count than people that are scattered.”

Southern Humboldt was another area where effective counting was challenged. Ward said the effort “definitely had a lack of organization” there, but “that’s been improved significantly” this time.

Vernon Price, a formerly homeless resident and advocate for homelessness reduction, expressed confidence in the county’s ability to gain a more accurate tally.

“Robert Ward and I don’t see eye to eye on too many things but this point in time count and the way that this is being done this year is very efficient, very effective and I believe it will find the much-needed numbers that were lost in the last point in time count,” he said.

Price added that he’s gotten police records from Arcata and Eureka that show that “people were ran from their encampments” 24 hours prior to the 2017 count. “If we would get help from our law enforcement officers and agencies, I believe we would find a better and more proper count,” he said.

Supervisor Mike Wilson said counting homeless people is “obviously not easy” and he credited county staff for trying to improve the effort.

more extended and the property’s zoning limits construction options.

“What we can do with this funding, is to bring those properties up into a condition where can maintain that housing and can keep it going for more years,” Love said.

Another jumbled, gelastic jamboree of jiggery-pokery

• Thursday, January 10 1:52 a.m. Whatever he did or didn't do to her, it had her initially throwing things, then "crying hysterically" in the background as he called police.

5:28 a.m. A Stewart Avenue man's house proved invulnerable to the 20 or so BB rounds fired at it by unknown marksdolts.

9:13 a.m. The barking of a Haeger Avenue dog wasn't halted by the border of city limits, and the windborne arfage spilled over into county territory. The non-Arcata resident texted furiously at the owner while asking crime-harried deputies to come and deal with the talkative city dog barking up the countryside.

9:41 a.m. A turquoise wallet basically containing a woman's legal and financial life disappeared from a Ninth Street business.

9:43 a.m. A young student reportedly tried to exit a classroom with two laptop computers, and it became a police matter.

10:22 a.m. An unlocked locker at a Community Park Way health club yielded to a thief a purse containing a wallet, $30 cash, checkbook, credit cards and a cell phone. The unlocked locker idea could be conceptually flawed.

11:31 a.m. An unvaccinated cat bit a Sunny Brae veterinary employee, and a quarantine arrangement was requested.

12:14 p.m. Vehicles are disappearing off Sunny Brae streets on a routine basis these days, often stolen by night.

1:32 p.m. A dog languished in a gray van on I Street between Eighth and Ninth streets overnight and into the following afternoon, no one seen around to attend to them.

2:08 p.m. A van was reported parked at Ninth and I streets with two dogs inside, one a Rotweiler and the other German shepherd puppy. In a concession to compassion, a window was slightly cracked open.

11:47 a.m. A Valley West business reported multiple people building an encampment 'twixt a motel and the freeway, with garbage blowing around and the campers traipsing across private property.

3:23 p.m. A self-appointed misogynist crosswalk guard filled an entirely unnecessary public service niche at Samoa Boulevard and H streets and offered a woman a scathingly negative appraisal of her street-crossing technique, adding derogatory statements about her being a woman at all.

3:36 p.m. A woman in a purple jacket threatened hapless wage slaves at a Valley West golden arches, then magnified her menace by offering to set the building on fire, that is, if they'd like to be fried with that.

7:15 p.m. A Valley West business reported its work truck embezzled, with the driver just having dropped it off behind the store.

Police were asked to stand by as it was recovered in case the fearsome truck taker was still in the area.

7:19 p.m. An overly acquisitive shoplifter at a Uniontown supermarket had pocketed not just grocery items, but an employee's purse.

10:07 p.m. A Janes Road resident reported someone sitting outside their home in the dark, holding an umbrella.

• Saturday, January 12 3:35 p.m. A highly cocktailed man at the Mad River Fire Station belted drunkenly into the call box about armed women trying to pass him. This earned him a public drunkenness arrest.

4:36 p.m. A man and woman used the main water valve at a Valley West business to bathe themselves.

Note: media bulletins for Jan. 13, 14 and 15 were not released by the Arcata Police Dept. – Ed.

• Wednesday, January 16 5:08 a.m. A man banged on the windows of a Janes Road business, claiming he was the police, which he wasn't, and demanding to be let in, which he wasn't.

7:29 a.m. A man banged on a front door and peered through someone's windows on Janes Road, demanding to be let in "to smoke weed." That's another nope.

9:16 a.m. A twenty-something man in a checkered shirt rode around in the parking lot of an 11th Street high school, asking female students how old they were.

9:27 a.m. A Fifth Streeter reported neighbors keeping a puppy on a leash so short that it couldn't lay down, and there was no water for it.

10:10 a.m. A worker unloading a truck full of merchandise later to be shoplifted from a Uniontown supermarket reported a man somehow associated with a dog and cat trying to start an argument with him.

11:31 a.m. A man in a black fedora and matching jacket cut a dashing figure as he lurked in the shrubbery at the periphery of a Valley West motel. Asked to leave, the bushwhacko got all aggro.

5:57 p.m. Two men, one heavily coated with tattoos, tried to collect donations on Union Street with some kind of story about being Humboldt State students in a communications class competing in fundraising for foster children. Because in the end, it's all about the children, so won't you give?

• Thursday, January 17 7:56 a.m. An urban camper set up a coffee can stove in a disreputable Uniontown breezeway.

10:40 a.m. A suspicious-acting teenage girl with spiked hair turned up a an 11th Street residence saying she was in a Humboldt State communications class, where the rigorous assignment was to get to know her neighbors better. She demanded to be let inside to asked a few questions, but was refused entry.

4:30 p.m. A wallet was left inside a car with a broken door on Ninth Street, and faster than you can say "slithy tove," the vehicle was remarkably wallet-free.

• Friday, January 18 12:04 a.m. A man dressed in all black used a flashlight to look inside cars at a Boyd Road mobile home park, and someone considered this "suspicious."

2:55 p.m. Oh the games people play now, every night and every day now, using shopping carts, vehicles and recycling as chess pieces in a grand game of harassment against a neighbor. The items were continually placed in front of someone's driveway, possibly with the aid of the multiple hangabouts who are there at all hours.

• Saturday, January 19 2:19 a.m. A man with a long beard, dreadlocks and no upper body... oh wait, that must be his all-obscur-ing (and relatively dapper, as long as you're grading on a curve) camouflage jacket... bellowed the night away in front of an H Street tavern.

Note: media bulletins for Jan. 20, 21 and 22 were not released by the Arcata Police Dept. – Ed.

• Wednesday, January 23 12:54 a.m. A dumpster diver at a Valley West gas station aroused the territorial ire of an employee, who pepper sprayed him.

2:19 a.m. Tensions between 11th Street roommates escalated to the point where they were bickering outside the house in the middle of the damn night. They wouldn't let one roomie in, that is unless, as they helpfully suggested, she were to climb in through her bedroom window.

12:03 p.m. Now that cannabis has been legalized, a Valley West cannabis clinic's business model has been rendered moot, the building is shuttered and the chronic camping around and underneath the structure is totally out of control.

A home invasion, a chase, an arrest, a gun and a whole lotta meth

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

HUMBOLDT – On Thursday, Jan. 24 at about 4 a.m., Humboldt County Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to a residence on the 1400 block of Skunk Hollow Road in Orleans for the report of a home invasion armed robbery that had just occurred.

Deputies made contact with the female victim at a nearby residence, who told deputies that around 2 a.m. she heard a knock at her door.

The person identified himself as an acquaintance of the victim, however, the victim did not recognize the voice and refused to open the door. The victim told deputies that a short while later, the subject returned to the residence and kicked in the door.

Three masked suspects with firearms entered the residence, ordered the victim onto the ground and zip-tied her wrists. The suspects then spent over 45 minutes in the residence before fleeing in the victim's vehicle.

After the suspects had left the residence, the victim was able to escape to a neighbor's home to call law enforcement

At about 2:53 p.m., the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office was notified that Hoopa Valley Tribal Police Department officers were on Pine Creek Road in Hoopa in pursuit of a vehicle matching the description and license plate of a vehicle reported stolen during the home invasion armed robbery earlier that day.

Humboldt County Sheriff's deputies and officers with the California Highway Patrol, California State Parks and Yurok Tribal Police Department responded to assist.

The pursuit continued westbound onto Bald Hills Road, where the vehicle crashed into a dirt bank near French Camp Road.

Two occupants of the vehicle, the male driver and female passenger, fled on foot into a heavily wooded area. Both subjects were believed to be armed.

The Sheriff's K9 Team, an Arcata Police Department K9 Team and a CHP helicopter were deployed to search for the two subjects. Teams were unable to locate the subjects and the search was discontinued at about 6:30 p.m.

During a search of the stolen vehicle, deputies located several items reported stolen from the home invasion armed robbery in Orleans.

On Friday, Jan. 25 at about 7:20 a.m., the Humboldt County Sheriff's Emergency Communications Center received a citizen tip that a suspicious male subject had been spotted walking east on Bald Hills Road near the Yurok Tribe Veterans Cemetery on the Yurok Tribe Reservation.

Sheriff's deputies were unable to locate the subject and requested that Yurok Tribal Police conduct extra patrols in the area to look for the subject.

At about 9:45 a.m., a Yurok Tribal Police Officer on patrol in the area located the subject, later identified as 26-year-old Timothy Robert Ulrich Jr., at the Veterans Cemetery.

Ulrich was identified by the Hoopa Valley Tribal Police as the driver of the pursuit on Jan. 24.

Sheriff's deputies arrived on scene to assist with Ulrich's apprehension.

Ulrich was found to be in possession of a loaded firearm and approximately 79 grams of suspected methamphetamine.

Ulrich was booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on charges of: convicted felon in possession of a firearm, possession of a narcotic controlled substance, possession of a controlled substance and violation of probation.

Charges related to the vehicle pursuit are also being requested, and additional charges may be requested by the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office following further investigation.

The female passenger has not been located at this time.

The investigation into the home invasion armed robbery on January 24 is still ongoing.

The Sheriff's Office would like to thank the alert citizen for reporting the suspicious sighting, as well as the following agencies for their coordination in this investigation: Yurok Tribal Police Department, Hoopa Valley Tribal Police Department, California Highway Patrol, Arcata Police Department K9 Team and California State Parks.

Off-duty Coastie rescues foundering man near Humboldt Bay North Jetty

U.S. COAST GUARD

MCKINLEYVILLE — An off-duty Coast Guard civilian employee rescued a man near the Humboldt Bay North Jetty Thursday, Jan. 24 after seeing a man treading water in the high surf and strong current.

A bystander called Coast Guard Sector Humboldt Bay watchstanders via 911 at approximately 8 a.m., reporting a surfer had lost his board near the Humboldt Bay North Jetty and appeared to be in distress due to the strong current.

A Coast Guard Sector Humboldt Bay MH-65 Dolphin helicopter crew and a Coast Guard Station Humboldt Bay 47-foot Motor Lifeboat crew launched to the scene.

A California Department of Fish and Wildlife marine unit and a Humboldt County Sheriff's Office marine unit also responded.

Prior to the rescue units arriving on scene, Steven Bluntzer, a Sector Humboldt Bay civilian search and rescue controller and also a surfer, was on scene and noticed the distressed surfer.

Bluntzer instructed a bystand-er to call 911, then entered the water on his own surfboard to assist the surfer in distress.

Bluntzer pulled the distressed surfer onto his own surfboard amid high surf and strong current. The surfer reported he had been fighting the current and treading water for approximately 45 minutes after losing his surfboard.

All rescue boats then arrived on scene and transferred both individuals to shore.

"I just did what any Coastie would do in that situation," said Bluntzer.

The Coast Guard urges the public to remain vigilant during changing and challenging ocean conditions and remain off rocks, jetties and outcroppings during periods of high surf.

When heading out on the water, always let someone know where you are going and when you plan to return and never swim alone.

Check local weather conditions at wrh.noaa.gov/eka/ before participating in ocean or shore activities.

The Coast Guard continues operations authorized by law that provide for national security or that protect life and property during partial government shutdowns; however, there are some impacts to our day-to-day operations.

Coast Guard uniformed and civilian essential personnel continued to perform their duties during a partial government shutdown and provided essential services such as search and rescue, port and homeland safety and security, law enforcement and environmental response.

Handy how-to guides for better understanding the world around us

Proper paper pulpit use

When writing up the “police reports” for your paper, please, Mr. K. Hoover (editor), lose the derogatory statements and descriptions of those obviously homeless or mentally ill.

We are all in this together, regardless of wealth or class. So, let go of your arrogance and grab on to some compassion.

Maybe use your paper to inform the public of the recent decision by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals that frees the homeless and displaced from “cruel and unusual” punishment, that ends most of the harassment by the police – no more ticketing or arrests for sleeping and covering up (blankets, tarps, tents) on public owned land or being fined for eliminating biological human waste if no adequate facilities are available. This decision is way-long overdur, makes common sense and is just.

Also maybe, call out from your “paper pulpit” to all city and county governments to stand up to their first responsibilities of providing services and protection to their citizens and residents.

The Intersectionality Core Rating System

Over the years, the world has seen many great social movements that bring freedom and equality to all people. Religious freedom, women’s suffrage, civil rights and gay rights movements have helped level the legal, social and economic playing field in many countries.

In cultural melting pots such as the United States, many people fall into multiple categories of marginalization simultaneously. How do we address this situation? How do we quantify it? Enter the concept of intersectionality.

Since 2004, the Intersectionality Programming Association has aimed to quantify this phenomenon with a simple Intersectionality Core Rating system. Those with higher scores receive preferential treatment in higher education placement, school faculties, corporate hierarchies, government jobs and government entitlement programs. So how does the Intersectionality Core Rating system (ICR) work?

Everybody starts with a basic rating of 1 simply for being human, and additional points are added for each layer of intersection. Take me for example. I am white and male. This means I have the lowest ICR of 1. However, as an advocate for intersectionality, I receive an additional half point giving me a total of 1.5.

Now meet Jan. She +1 is African American +1 and a lesbian +1 giving her a total score of 4 ICR. Jan is also a world class veterinarian, mother of 2 honor roll students, a volunteer at a homeless shelter and well liked in her community. These attributes do not effect her score.

Meet Maria. She +1 is a disabled +1 Mexican +1 immigrant +1 giving her a total score of 5 ICR. Maria has struggled with some issues. She was jailed for embezzling, meth abuse, spousal abuse and is generally known as a liar and a crook. These issues do not affect her score.

Now we will see an example of Negative Outcome Points (NOP). Meet Frank. Frank is black +1 and gay +1 giving him a score of 3 ICR. However, Frank is a successful stock broker, is fiscally conservative, does not advocate intersectionality and is fond of wearing a red Make America Great Again cap. This is an automatic NOP -2 point deduction giving him a score of 1. Frank is in a dangerous position because anyone with a score below 1 is automatically considered a fascist. He should consider advocating intersectionality to raise his score.

The Intersectionality Programming Association is working diligently to shift the focus away from capitalism merit-based systems, and towards a more fair system based on layers of immutable characteristics. And that’s how intersectionality works! (Names have been changed to protect identity.)

Welcome to Arcata – we have it all, and here’s a partial list

There is no other city in Humboldt County or perhaps Northern California that has the positive attributes and resources of downtown Arcata.

In a similar footprint as the Bayshore Mall (seriously, the area between Wildberries Marketplace and Plaza Shoe Shop), Arcata has more diversity and walkability than any other community in Humboldt offers.

Arcata shines....

There are three-all service markets and one Mexican specialty market.

The Farmers’ Market outshines all others north of San Francisco.

There are two full-service pharmacies.

Cannabis distribution centers.

Pet stores.

Two boo stores.

A packaging and mail center.

A record store.

Three movie theaters with wine, beer and food service.

A movie theatre with full bar and food service.

A large performance venue with bar and food service.

A brew pub.

Two fine furniture stores and mattress center.

Several fashion stores highlighting jewelry, vintage, dancewear and outdoor.

Three of the best shoe, sport and boot stores in the county.

Boot and shoe repair shop.

Two outdoor retailers with rentals for wild rivers, ocean and the Redwoods.

Manufacturer and retailer of body products.

Fine gift and décor stores.

Specialty stores (collectibles, bongos, minerals)

An art cooperative.

A toy store.

A bead shop.

A print shop and a swag printing resource.

A Tuxedo and fine fashion rental shop.

A full-service hardware store and paint center.

Bakeries that feature cupcakes, croissants, daily bread, bagels, donuts, sweet and savory pies. Homemade ice cream shop.

A yogurt shop.

Computer sales and service.

A stationery store.

A laundry.

Wine tasting.

Several coffee bars.

A jazz bar.

Open Door Clinic.

Gas station.

Mad River Union newspaper.

Historic buildings.

Nationally recognized bagel shop.

More than 40 restaurants featuring Mexican, Japanese, Italian, French, California (90-plus in Arcata).

Five Banks.

Realtors.

Insurance service.

Health Center.

Spas, hair, tattoo, nail salons.

Yoga centers, jiu jitsu, therapists, chiropractors and massage clinics.

A Post Office.

A hotel.

A fire station.

A church.

City Hall and Police Station.

A library.

Car charging stations.

Public restrooms.

Bars for every possible inclination.

A PLAZA.

There are more when you add the layers of invention and resourcefulness that Arcata represents and all those accounting, legal, design, architectural, cultural and technical resources on the second floors over retail shops.

Footnote: When the Bayshore Mall first opened, retailers throughout the county panicked. Arcata merchants joined together to assess our resources and focus on customer service. Arcata Main Street was born.

Two simple initial actions made a difference:

One was free. We agreed to stick to common open hours to give best service to customers.

One was cheap. We pooled our advertising money and bought the entire back page of the Union and North Coast Journal.

We gave up our business card sized-ads that get lost with all the other print and created strong images featuring the collective reasons to come to Arcata.

We each saved a lot of money and gained a greater impact.

✦ COLLEGE LIFE TODAY

A learning disability didn’t make me ineducable. It made me unstoppable

Max Schmidtbauer
SPECIAL TO THE UNION

HUMBOLDT – Being a freshman in college is not easy, to say the least. Once you tack on the fact that I have a diagnosed learning disability, it seems like college is not an option at all. At least, this is what I was told.

Little did I know how wrong they all were.

From a young age, I have always appreciated and actually enjoyed school. It was only once the classes got harder that I realized I was falling behind all my other classmates. This is an incredibly helpless feeling, as I didn’t understand why I was not progressing like others were.

Eventually, you let what everyone says get to your head. They say you aren’t smart enough to pass your classes. They say you are lazy. They say you should just quit now. They say college is not in your future. I was still very young, so it was easy to let what everyone was saying go to my head. It was easy for me to just nod and agree.

But with the help of my family, I finally decided to do something that wasn’t as easy: I was going to make a change. Later that year, I finally got tested to see if I had some sort of learning disability, and in fact, I did. Moving forward with this knowledge and understanding how my disability affected me in the classroom, I was able to learn around my disability, to fully understand how it had limited me. After I was diagnosed, my grades went from solid C’s to almost straight A’s.

Three years have now passed and I find myself at my first choice school, Humboldt State University. Here at Humboldt State, I have had the pleasure of working with some of the kindest, most professional and understanding disability staff. They have offered free tutoring and resources and have continued to help me build up my confidence as a student. Remember those C’s from my sophomore year in high school? Well, now I’m on the Dean’s List for my academic achievements during my first semester in college.

The most important lesson I have learned from this is to never allow something to get in the way of your success. Not everyone has a learning disability, but I’m sure everyone has at least one thing in their life that they feel may limit their potential.

Do not let it. Not everyone is going to be perfect. Not everyone is going to succeed on their first try. Some of the world’s most brilliant minds are specialists in failure.

But, the important thing is after their failure, after they establish and understand the roadblocks in their life, they are able to overcome those barriers to happiness and success. I believe that with so much negativity swirling around, especially for today’s youth, it’s important to never give up and to never let one, two, three, however many roadblocks limit you.

If you want to go to college, then make it happen, and go to college. Never let anyone tell you that you cannot get there, because with hard work and persistence, I may just be seeing you on campus next semester or next year. It is a cliché, but if you try hard and never give up, your goals are never out of reach.

THE VILLAGE HEARING TODAY The Village student housing project, rejected by the Arcata City Council last year, is back with revisions. City staff will host a meeting to share project changes, receive stakeholder insights and discuss the process for reconsideration of the project today, Jan. 30 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. in City Council Chamber, 736 F St. Following a presentation of the revised Village Housing Project proposal, attendees may ask questions and share ideas and concerns in working groups facilitated by city staff. The project applicant will be present to answer questions. Results of the meeting will be conveyed to City Council on Wednesday, Feb. 6, where it will hear public comment and decide whether to re-initiate consideration of the revised project.

❖ TASTES NOT UNLIKE CHICKEN

Kirsten conjures tasty game day noshes, and the wing's the thing

Super Bowl time has something for everyone – the game, the parties, the food! Thankfully I am most invested in the food portion, so disappointment never awaits me.

❖ KIRSTEN'S KITCHEN
Kirsten Lindquist

Buffalo-style hot wings are among my favorites, but if you are not into eating poultry check out these tofu wings.

Freezing and then defrosting the tofu gives it a great chewy texture, and best of all, these are baked not fried, so a lot less fuss and mess.

Make sure to have lots of celery and blue cheese dressing on hand, they really do compliment the wings.

And while I am not making any claims that they taste “just like chicken,” many will say they are magically delicious!

Buffalo Style Tofu “Wings”
(makes 14)

- 1 lb. firm tofu, frozen and then defrosted at least 12 hours
- 2 eggs, beaten (or 3 tablespoons dijon mustard)
- ½ cup flour
- 2 cups seasoned breadcrumbs
- Celery stalks
- Blue cheese dressing

Buffalo Sauce

- ¼ cup ketchup
- 4 tablespoons butter (or vegan butter)
- 2 teaspoons honey
- 3 tablespoons hot sauce (I used Cholula)
- 1 teaspoon pickled jalapeno juice (optional)
- 1 teaspoon cayenne powder (optional)
- salt

Two days before preparing, freeze tofu without its water. 12 hours after freezing, remove from freezer, place in refrigerator and allow to completely defrost, at least 12 hours.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Combine sauce ingredients in small saucepan and bring to simmer. Cook for 5 minutes until flavors meld. Set aside but reheat just before tofu is done baking.

Once tofu is defrosted, gently squeeze tofu to rid it of as much moisture as possible.

Starting at the short end, like a loaf of bread, carefully cut ½ inch slabs, producing six to seven slabs. Then cut each slice into two triangles.

Place the flour on a plate, the whipped eggs in a bowl and the breadcrumbs in a shallow bowl for dipping the tofu. Using your left hand, pat the tofu into the flour and shake off the excess.

Using the same hand, dip the floured tofu into the egg and then place in the breadcrumbs. With your right hand, scoop the breadcrumbs over the tofu triangle until it is covered, and press the crumbs into the tofu. Tap off the excess and place on a baking sheet. Repeat until all tofu is breaded.

Spray the tofu with oil and then bake for 15 minutes on each side for a total of 30 minutes. Tofu will come out browned and airy. Just before removing from the oven, reheat the buffalo sauce on simmer.

Place the hot-from-the-oven tofu wings in a large bowl and pour Buffalo sauce over them all and gently toss to coat evenly. Serve immediately with celery and bleu cheese dressing.

Hugs!

Dead tribute bands aplenty

I'm back. Yes, it's true. The Hum is back. Back in print anyway. I never totally disappeared online (at thehum.online), but I needed a break. I had more pressing things to do — like lay my friend to rest, then my mom. The print Hum will be different. Watch for it monthly. (No more weekly deadlines.)

I explained all this when I ran into a couple of friends the other day on Bar Row. One of them was in the Raging Grannies with my dear old mother. After sincere condolences and some talk about what a fine lady she was, I mentioned that I was bringing The Hum back.

Her friend is a local musician, so of course he was glad to hear about the return. 'What should I mention?' I wondered. 'Well, definitely the Nels Cline show,' said the local musician, Gary Davidson, who has been playing bass in various local combos for decades.

Needless to say, that show Saturday, Feb. 16, at the Arcata Playhouse is hopelessly sold out. (Miracle tickets required. Ask around.) Nels Cline 4 is led by the awesome Wilco guitarist, and also features the 20-something Julian Lage, who played here with his band recently, and, memorably, with David Grisman a few years ago. In a JazzTimes interview, Lage says he'd "found his people" playing with Cline. "At last I found a scenario where you could be free and adventurous, you could utilize sound and be extremely melodic and evocative." I'm ready for an adventure.

Gary also figured he had to mention a benefit at the Bayside Community Hall (formerly known as the Grange) since he plays in both bands on the twofer bill: Home Cookin' and The Handshakers. It gives away my age, but I can't help but think of Home Cookin' as the latest incarnation of Freddy and the Starliners, a band with Jambalaya founders Fred Neighbor and Joyce Hough from before Gary moved here.

The Handshakers were once known as Rogue's Gallery. A pair of Georgia-born guitarist/songwriters, Mike Bynum and luthier Michael Walker, are out front, with Aleis- ter Paige on pedal steel. They changed names when Gary joined with rhythm partner Paul DeMark on drums. BTW, Paul officially announced the end of the venerable Delta Nationals after 18 years. Just to keep busy, he's started another band, a jazz trio PD 3, with Fred on guitar.

This "Double the Money Hallabaloo" promises an "evening of dinner and music" with an early start, beginning with a home-cooked meal at 5:30 p.m. Handshakers at 7, with Home Cookin' closing. All money raised for BC Hall renovation will be matched by an anonymous donor. "This will be a fun evening for a good cause," says Joyce. "I have many, many fond memories of playing in this building!! You probably do too." Indeed I do.

Before we parted on Bar Row, Gary had another gig to mention. Yet another outfit he plays with, Rosewater: A Tribute to the Grateful Dead, is at the Clam Beach Tavern (in McKinleyville) on Friday, Feb. 15. Along the same lines, The Miracle Show offers "top shelf Grateful Dead," at the Jam on the same night (2/15) declaring, "The music plays the band." There's also a "Grateful Dead Dance Party" at Humbrews this Saturday (2/2) with Dead vids augmented by a light show by Marmalade Sky. You just missed Dead On, a trio "exploring the acoustic side of The Grateful Dead." Gary had a simple explanation about the plethora of Dead cover bands locally. "There's all these great songs and we love playing them, and the people keep coming out to hear them."

Speaking of tribute bands, Piet Dalmolen and the Pink Floyd cover band Money play that song and others from that catalog at Humbrews Friday, Feb. 1. They promise "lights and projections by Shawn Lei and a few new tricks up our sleeve." (Remember the old days when light shows were listed along with the bands?)

More covers etc. coming up at The Jam, with a month of Sunday kid-friendly afternoon shows labeled "Fam Jam," all from 1-4 p.m. Youngins get in free (with adults). First up, Silver Hammer: A Beatles Tribute, then the following Sunday, Feb. 17, reggae tunes by Irie Rockers, and, rounding things out Feb. 24, All Things Must Pass—a Birthday Tribute to George Harrison. (His b-day is actually the next day, but it's close enough.)

Absynth Quartet plays at Eureka's Arts Alive! on Saturday, Feb. 2 (9 p.m.), describing it as "Our first gig of 2019 is also our first gig at the Siren's Song Tavern," which is partly true. I heard most of the Q play at North of Fourth at the end of January's Arts Alive, but since Tofu (the drummer) was elsewhere, the remaining Absynths were billed as Sansfü. (The talented

At Dell' Arte: Viva Commedia!

DELL'ARTE INTERNATIONAL

BLUE LAKE, CA - Guaranteed to provoke boisterous laughter, Viva Commedia! tumbles into the Carlo Theatre for three performances only, Thursday, Feb. 7, Friday, Feb. 8 and Saturday, Feb. 9. Get your tickets early, as Dell'Arte's annual Commedia show consistently sells out.

Viva Commedia! celebrates Commedia dell'Arte, a lively comic form featuring bold physical play, masks, bawdy humor, and virtuosic improvised performance. Archetypal characters are the heart of this timeless human comedy that knows no bounds, yet requires great precision and dexterity from the actors.

Be warned — marked by improvisational play, musicality, acrobatics and a bold, presentational style, Commedia dell'Arte is a centuries-old form that is uncensored in its delivery. Performances are often bawdy and body-based in humor — and involve themes that may be inappropriate for younger viewers. Pay what you can and laugh all you want as the Dell'Arte first-year ensemble navigates this audacious terrain.

Viva Commedia! will run in the Carlo Theatre at 131 H St. in Blue Lake on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 7 to 9 at 8 p.m. These popular performances are all pay-what-you-can, with reservations highly encouraged.

To purchase tickets or get more information, call (707) 668-5663, or visit our website at dellarte.com.

♦ ARCATA PLAYHOUSE

The Man Who Planted Trees

ARCATA PLAYHOUSE

CREAMERY DISTRICT

— The Arcata Playhouse Family Fun Series opens its 13th annual season with Scotland's Puppet State Theatre Company performing The Man Who Planted Trees on Saturday, Feb. 2 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. at the Arcata Playhouse, 1251 Ninth St. in Arcata.

Hear the wind, feel the rain, smell the lavender and laugh with Dog in this multi-sensory theatrical delight. Based on Jean Giono's classic environmental novel, this play is a unique blend of comedy and puppetry and tells the inspiring, ecologically oriented tale of a human being who saw a need and decided not to ignore it but "to put things right."

In spite of wars and hardship, a French shepherd sets out with his dog to plant a forest and transform a barren wasteland. This uplifting and unforgettable story shows us the difference one man (and his dog!) can make to the world.

Adapted and performed by Richard Medrington and Rick Conte and featuring set and puppet design by Ailie Cohen, The Man Who Planted Trees is an award-winning puppet theater production that has performed world-wide from the Sydney Opera House to the Lincoln Center in New York.

PUPPET SHOW Richard Medrington and Rick Conte bring their family friendly show to the Arcata Playhouse this Saturday.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

The production is the first of two presentations to make up the 2019 edition of the Arcata Playhouse Family Series.

The series has become an Arcata and Humboldt County mainstay for families looking for quality, affordable entertainment for children and adults alike.

"Traditionally we start our series in March but this year we had the opportunity to host The Man Who Planted Trees with performances in February and we couldn't pass up the chance to bring this incredible show to Humboldt County, the land of giant trees," said Playhouse series organizer David Ferney.

In addition to the Puppet State Theatre Company of Scotland the series will feature Maine physical performer and magician Leland Faulkner in his show

World of Wonder in April. Faulkner uses physical theater, classical conjuring and creative storytelling to create a performance that has been hailed internationally as a theatrical feast.

The series is supported by funding from the Western States Arts Federation and generous local business sponsors Tri Counties Bank, Kokatat Watersports Wear, Holly Yashi Jewelry and Wildberries Market-place.

Tickets are $15 for adults and $12 for children 12 and under or $50 for a family of four or more. Available at Wildberries Market Place and Redwood Yogurt as well as online at brownpapertickets.com. For additional information or reservations call (707) 822-1575 or visit arcata-playhouse.org.

Grange needs new roof

The Mad River Grange continues to work on raising money for a new roof. Anyone can donate to the “Put a lid on it” campaign to help raise funds for the roof.

The Grange hopes to be able to put the new roof on this year. I’m also pleased to announce that the Grange has secured a grant for a new oven. The poor oven has been a little sick over the past year, and a new one has been sorely needed, but the roof has taken priority.

The Grange kitchen committee is working diligently to get the new oven and appropriate upgrades completed soon. Lastly, the Grange will soon be the owner of a pizza oven. The Mad River Old Crows has been working on this project and some donations are still needed to make this project a reality.

In February, the Grange breakfast will be a special fundraiser for this project, and there will even be some information for the public to view.

Mad River Scramble

In just a few short weeks, a portion of the open land in the Powers Creek District will be transformed into a mountain bike pump track for the Mad River Scramble event.

The idea is to see how many times a rider can go through this muddy obstacle track in a specific amount of time. This event is a special fundraiser for the Friends of the Annie and Mary Rail Trail, and will take place on Saturday, Feb. 16 at 11 a.m. Cost is $30 per entry. More information still to come!

Chamber of Commerce news

The Barn Dance was a huge success with a pie contest, dancing, drinks provided by the grange, and just absolute fun for the whole family.

Keep your eyes peeled for new and exciting events offered by the Chamber of Commerce, and for those of you wondering, the date of this year’s Annie and Mary Day has not been set yet, but rest assured, when it is, I will make sure to get that information out to you.

Enjoy these few sunny days we are having before the rain returns. It’s nice to be able to get a break in the much needed rain drops we’ve had.

INSCRUTABLE RABBIT On Friday, Feb. 1 at 7 p.m. the Miniplex at Richard’s Goat, 401 I St. in Arcata presents Inscrutable Rabbit, performing original songs and featuring the spoken word of Jeff DeMark along with the sometimes coherent ramblings of reclusive writer Wax Johnson. The cost at the door is $2.99. Inscrutable Rabbit is Jeff and Paul DeMark along with Mark Jeffares and Jeff Krider of The Trouble. Inscrutable Rabbit is inspired by a small sculpture of a dressed up rabbit that Jeff DeMark bought in New Orleans. The title of the rabbit sculpture, “Don’t Underestimate Me” inspired a song and the creation of the musical group.

OBITUARY

Robert (Bob) John Hughes, Nov. 16, 1930 – Jan. 11, 2019

About death Bob always said, “We all get a turn.” His turn came peacefully on Friday afternoon, Jan. 11, 2019 at Timber Ridge, McKinleyville.

He is survived by his wife, Sally Williams, three children, Susan Hendrickson (Boyd), Robert Hughes (Yvonne), Linda Gorman (Peter) and seven grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents Boyd and Eula Hughes, brother, Eldon, sister Twila and first wife, Madeline, mother of his children.

Bob was born and raised in East Los Angeles where his friends were an eclectic group. Many of their parents had immigrated to the United States from Eastern Europe, the Middle East and Mexico.

From Humboldt State University

he received a BS degree in 1955 and a masters in 1960. From the University of Utah he received a PhD in 1973. While at HSU Bob played football, and from among his fellow athletes met his second group of life-long friends.

Bob’s first job after graduation was teaching biology and coaching at Arcata High School. He then moved to Orange County where he taught and coached before going into high school administration. Following early retirement in 1986, as principal of Laguna Beach High School, he returned to Arcata. He taught the Administrative Credential Program at HSU for 10 years and served on the HSU Alumni board including two years as president. He also did AIDS education for the Karuk tribe and served as an interim school superintendent in Hoopa.

One of the events Bob will be most remembered for is his annual pig roast out at the cookhouse at Babich Ranch in Crannell. It usually occurred the second weekend in August bringing together his family, high school and college friends plus many of the friends who came into his life during his career and retirement. We miss his wonderful smile, sense of humor and enthusiasm for life.

There will be a Memorial Service in late spring or early summer.

McMAC to elect officers, discuss roads, planning issues

The McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee (McKMAC) meets today, Jan. 30 at 6 p.m. in the McKinleyville Middle School Conference Center at 2275 Central Ave. in McKinleyville.

The county advisory committee will discuss the resignation of John Corbett, who served as the committee’s chair. The committee will elect new officers for the year.

The committee will also discuss the McKinleyville Community Services District’s letter to the Humboldt County Association of Governments regarding affordable housing allocations for McKinleyville and elsewhere in the county. The committee will also discuss the MCSD’s Strategic Plan, which is being updated, and may hear a presentation from Humboldt County Public Works Director Tom Mattson regarding the main roads entering McKinleyville.

The committee will also discuss general plan amendments for McKinleyville and a proposal for a pop-up museum in McKinleyville. The meeting is open to the public as required by law and time is set aside for public comment.

Join the McK Choir

If you enjoy singing and can carry a tune, join the McKinleyville Community Choir. You do not have to be able to read music, and there is no try-out. (However, practice is needed, and perfection is a goal.)

Registration started on Monday and continues for the next two Mondays, Feb. 4 and 11. There is a $50 fee, but scholarships and grants are available on a sliding scale.

There is a wide variety of songs scheduled for the season. After the weeks of practice and preparation, there are usually at least three public performances in June. Members come from all around the area – Trinidad to Scotia, out to Blue Lake, and many points in between, and they share the joy and camaraderie of making music together. (Research shows that music participation is good for one’s health, as well.)

Instrumentalists, other than keyboard, are invited to participate and start at a later date. If interested, call Jon Reisdorf, this season’s director, at (707) 822-4595.

The group meets at the Grace Good Shepherd Church, 1450 Hiller Rd. in McKinleyville on Monday evenings, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., off-street parking is available.

There are some carpools. Call Clare Greene, choir manager, 1 (831) 419-3247, to find out if there’s one that could help with your transportation, or if there are other questions.

The choir is open for all parts and would be especially appreciative of some baritones and basses. High school students are welcome, as well as all adult age ranges.

Hammond work day

The next Hammond Trail volunteer day will be Saturday, Feb. 2 from 9 to 11 a.m. Volunteers will meet at the Vista Point/Clam Beach Overlook parking lot to resurface the trail down to Clam Beach with new water bars.

‘Love Light’ HUUF auction in Bayside

HUMBOLDT UNITARIANS

BAYSIDE – Do your shopping for Valentine’s Day at the Love Light Auction Fundraiser at the Humboldt Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, 24 Fellowship Way, Bayside, on Saturday, Feb. 9 from 3 to 7 p.m.

A $10 entry fee gets you: silent and live auction, sweet and savory appetizers and an adult beverage for 21 and over. No host wine and beer bar will feature beer from Booth Brewing. Clendenens cider for all.

The public is invited; all ages welcome (under 12 free). The Love Light Valentine store will have gifts, jewelry, cards and more for your Valentines, adults and kids. Childcare is provided and there are activities for children.

This fun community event is your chance to bid on dinners, parties, outings, fabulous goods and services, original art and crafts, and much more.

Silent Auction closings are at 4:15 p.m., 4:45 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. The Live Auction begins at 5:45 p.m. with thespian Mack Owen, auctioneer.

A catalogue of items is available at HUUF before the auction, and at the door. hufauction@gmail.com, (707) 499-0740

ELEGANT FRENCH DINNER

A tasteful and tasty evening of fine dining and dancing at Northcoast Preparatory and Performing Arts Academy High School’s 17th annual Elegant French Dinner will take place on Saturday, Feb. 9 at 5:30 p.m. at the Sequoia Conference Center, located at 901 Myrtle Ave. in Eureka.

All proceeds from this vital benefit support student scholarships for international travel, an important component of the school’s emphasis on global awareness and productive civic engagement in the world. Choose from a three-course meal of pork, salmon or vegetarian meals expertly prepared by volunteers of faculty, staff, parents and students. They will also serve delectable homemade desserts. There will be a no-host wine and beer bar and enjoy listening and dancing to Gypsy Jazz by the Absynth Trio. Rounding out the evening will be a raffle and silent auction of amazing items and baskets at the event as well as bidding online at northcoastprep.org. Tickets are $50 per guest and are available at Wild-berries Market or online at northcoastprep.org, which also has more information about the event.

WESTHAVEN CONCERT

On Friday, Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. Jenni and David and Sweet Soul band bring their toe-tapping fun to Westhaven Center for the Arts at 501 South Westhaven Drive in Westhaven. With outstanding vocals and a unique sound, these seasoned musicians seek to create an engaging atmosphere on originals and classics: Soulful funk and rhythmic blues grooves! Jenni Simpson is on vocals/baritone sax, David Childers on vocals/guitar, Julie Froblom on tenor sax/flute, Justin Hobart Brown on bass, and Robert Demer on drums. There is a $5 to $20 sliding scale. Refreshments are available.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF MARY LEE HOFFMAN CASE NO.: PR190004

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of:

MARY LEE HOFFMAN Petition for Probate has been filed by: MERRY FAITH HOFFMAN in the Superior Court of California, County of HUMBOLDT.

The Petition for Probate requests that: MERRY FAITH HOFFMAN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take any actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: Date: FEB. 7, 2019 Time: 2:00 PM Dept.: 6 Address of court: Superior Court of California, County of Humboldt, 825 Fifth Street, Eureka, CA, 95501.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for the petitioner: LAURENCE S. ROSS 161095 OWENS & ROSS 310 THIRD ST. NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING for the McKinley Statue Removal Project Arcata, California
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Arcata City Council will conduct a public hearing on Wednesday, February 20, 2019, beginning at 6:00 p.m. (or as soon thereafter as can be heard) in the City Council Chambers, Arcata City Hall, 736 F St., to consider the Final Environmental Impact Report (EIR), Findings of Fact, Statement of Overriding Considerations, and approval of the necessary actions, including a General Plan Amendment, for the removal of the McKinley statue project. The hearing will provide the public an opportunity to comment on the project or the environmental review. Comments may be presented in writing or orally, and may be presented in advance of or during the hearing. Project Location and Description: The City Council (Council) of the City of Arcata (City) voted on February 21, 2018, in favor of removing the statue of President William McKinley that has been located at the center of Arcata's Plaza since it was donated by Arcata resident George Zehndner in 1906. The statue has periodically been the focus of concern by citizens who question the appropriateness of having a commemorative work of a former President in the center of the town Plaza who is associated with a controversial period in America's history, namely the western expansionist period of the late 19th Century. This period is further associated with the poor treatment of the indigenous peoples whose lands were the focus of the expansionist policies of the US government at the time. The correlation between the impact of expansionist policies on indigenous people, the statue as a representation of those policies and impacts, and location at the center of Arcata, which is on the ancestral lands of the local Wiyot Tribe, is viewed by many as a poignant statement in continuing support of the subjugation of indigenous people. A movement to remove the statue in honor of the Wiyot Tribe and all indigenous people resulted in several demonstrations on the Plaza and public meetings before the City Council. The removal of commemorative works has become a national issue. In March of this year, the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation (ACHP), an independent federal agency created by the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA) of 1966, to promote the preservation, enhancement, and sustainable use of our nation's diverse historic resources, and to advise the President and the Congress on national historic preservation policy, issued a policy statement to help communities address controversial commemorative works (Appendix B to the Draft EIR). In short, the ACHP statement provides guiding principles to assist local governments when facing decisions regarding the disposition of controversial public commemorative works and acknowledges that communities' values change over time and that appropriate stewardship should "balance stewardship responsibilities for publicly-owned commemorative works with recognition of the sensibilities, cultural responses, and emotions over memorialization and remembrance of difficult chapters in the nation's history." (ACHP, March 2018) This guidance supports the City Council's decision to remove the statue for the reasons stated herein. The statue is proposed to be stored at a City-owned offsite location until its permanent disposition is determined. The McKinley Statue is identified in Policy H-3g of the Historic Preservation Element of the General Plan as one of several principal features of the Plaza which defines its historical character and which shall be preserved. In order to remove the statue, a focal point of the Arcata Plaza Historic District (District) and one of the principal features of the Plaza's historic character, the Council has found that a General Plan amendment will be required. Additionally, a Design Review permit for alterations to a structure within the District is required pursuant to §§ 9.72.040.B.2 and B.3 of the City's Land Use Code (Code). Environmental Review: The City prepared an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the project. The Draft EIR was circulated for a period of 45 days ending November 19, 2018. The Draft EIR's analysis of project impacts identified significant impacts on Historic Resources. The Final EIR will be available on February 8, 2019, or soon thereafter. The Final EIR responded to comments on the draft and made clarifications to the Draft EIR. The Planning Commission conducted a public hearing and considered a recommendation to the City Council to approve the Final EIR, including the Findings of Fact and a Statement of Overriding Considerations, and a General Plan Amendment for the McKinley Statue Removal Project, at a separately noticed hearing. The EIR is available for review during normal business hours (9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.), Monday through Friday, at the City of Arcata Community Development Department, City Hall, at 736 F Street, California, 95521. The EIR is also available for review or download on the City's website <https://bit.ly/2DuIQW8>.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the City Council will consider a Statement of Overriding Considerations pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act. The statement identifies that the significant impact to historic resources is outweighed by the social impact of retaining the statue. The full draft Statement of Overriding Considerations is available for public review everywhere the EIR is available as outlined in this notice. This notification is given pursuant to and in conformance with the Land Use Code Section 9.78.170.C.3. NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that anyone desiring to present testimony regarding said project may do so prior to or at the public hearing noticed herein. Please direct questions or comments to David Loya, Community Development Director at dloya@cityofarcata.org or at 707-825-2045.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the information regarding the proposed project and environmental review may be reviewed at the Community Development Department at Arcata City Hall, 736 "F" Street, Arcata, on weekdays between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. at (707) 822-5955. NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that, pursuant to state law, "if you challenge City action on a proposed project in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the hearing body at, or prior to, the public hearing(s). NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the meeting facilities will be accessible to persons with disabilities. Reasonable accommodations requests may be made by contacting Bridget Dory, City Clerk, at 707-825-2103 or bdory@cityofarcata.org at least 48 hours before the meeting.

Notice of Public Hearing for the McKinley Statue Removal Project Arcata, California
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Arcata Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing on Tuesday, February 12, beginning at 6:00 p.m. (or as soon thereafter as can be heard) in the City Council Chambers, Arcata City Hall, 736 F St., to consider the Final Environmental Impact Report (EIR), Findings of Fact, Statement of Overriding Considerations, and a recommendation to approve the necessary actions, including a General Plan Amendment, for the McKinley Statue Removal Project. # You'll go cuckoo for Coco, and maybe Mali too

We get all kinds of dogs in at the shelter. It can be quite the guessing game trying to figure out what sort of breed heritage they might have!

Not that it really matters, but it is still a way that dogs are identified on their kennel cards and on petharbor.com, where you can see the available dogs and cats.

Coco here is listed as a chocolate Labrador Retriever mix. Up close, her features seem more delicate than a Lab; maybe she is a Kelpie or another kind of cattle dog? Hard to say, and DNA tests are a little too expensive to use on the shelter dogs.

One of my dogs, Rudy, was born at our house and the adopters of his mom and siblings were all curious about their breed. They are all listed as shepherd mixes at their respective vets. When the DNA test came back – surprise! – no shepherd at all.

A large part of their heritage was some sort of cocker Spaniel. Who knows? But back to pretty Coco. She is a little smaller than your average Lab and has a lovely chocolate coat. She has been very friendly to all the people that she has met and is quite popular with the volunteers.

Coco is pretty good on the leash and likes to stay close to her person. She is only about a year old. With her possible Lab and cow dog background, she should be eager to learn and very easy to train. Coco is at the Humboldt County Animal Shelter, located at 980 Lycoming Ave. in McKinleyville.

She is spayed, microchipped and current on vaccinations and all ready to meet you. Stop on by and see if this is the dog for you!

Looking for a temporary office companion? Our Miss Mali spent most of December in the lobby of the Blue Lake Casino's hotel working her charms as an ambassador of the shelter. Mali is an 8-year-old shepherd mix that is waiting on knee surgery.

She was just cleared to move forward with the surgery, which could still be as much as a month away, and then there will be a recovery period after that. Mali is very good-natured and is happy to lounge around and give her humans some good company.

Mali

She was friendly with everyone (including children) that came through the casino during her stint there and now has taken up residency in the front office of the shelter during open hours.

Mali is well housebroken and only requires the occasional short potty break. She does love her treats, and will sneak up on your lunch if left unattended, but that is about as naughty as she gets! Mali is looking for a foster home to see her through her surgery and recovery. She is not a fan of dogs that want to play, as that can be painful for her, but might work in a home with a quieter dog.

All of Mali's medical needs are taken care of by the shelter; the foster is just responsible for providing love and shelter. Please contact Redwood Pals at redwoodpalsrescue@gmail or call (707) 633-8842 if you would like to meet Mali. You can also stop in at the shelter to meet her; she'll probably be right up front waiting to meet you!

The Hum | Horseshoes, Hand Grenades and more

❖ FROM B1
Britt Smith joined in on fiddle and they sounded great.) Anyway, AQ urges you, "Come celebrate art and beer and music and Groundhog's Day!"

Also on Saturday, the Arcata Playhouse opens its 13th annual season Family Fun Series with Scotland's Puppet State Theatre Company performing, "The Man Who Planted Trees" with two shows, 2 & 7 p.m. Expect a semi-cogroovy vibe in this story of a shepherd and dog who reforest a war-torn land.

Also at the Playhouse, Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 8 p.m.: the return of Front Country, an urban backwoods outfit now based in Nashville. With former local Melody Walker out front on lead vocals, the band says they've "forged a sound that lies somewhere between indie folk and Americana genre some might call Roots Pop," or you might call it post-modern country, although they steer clear of that word. Either way, "The past is discernible with a wink and a nod, and the future is here..."

As always, Humbergs has a mess of good music coming including (but not limited to) the Animal Liberation Orchestra, aka ALO, coming Thursday, Feb. 7, at the start of their Tour d'Amour XIII, their 13th annual jaunt as they approach Valentine's Day, celebrating "LOVE" and including a fundraising component for the victims of California's recent wildfires. What is ALO? It's all about "being in that unknown," i.e. improvising, and the jam. The tour also features "special guests" Horseshoes and Hand Grenades, an alt. bluegrass band (they have a banjo) from Wisconsin.

Before we go, a big shout out to the Breakfast All Day Collective, whose safer space, Outer Space, is celebrating turning two Friday, Feb. 1. The birthday party features Arcata High hip hop collective 4 The Masses, local garage punks Wet Spot, indigenous activist/singer/songwriter Sarah Torres with cousin Adam, and the spoken word artists of Word Humboldt, who typically hold down the word fort Tuesdays at Northtown Coffee.

Wednesday, Feb. 6. look for folky fare with Buck Meek from Texas, Twain from Virginia and locals Hollan and Emelia Grace. If you've been reading this section for awhile, you know that Outer Space's space was once home to Copeland Lumber, which was replaced by Nilsen Feed's short-lived store hiding 'round the corner. Now that Nilsen's is throwing in the towel (for whatever reason), the BAD kids are not totally sure what will happen next, but they've been good tenants, so they hope they'll get to stay. We'll see. If it looks like they need more help, say yes.

As February stumbles to an end Wednesday, Feb. 27, Outer Space hosts the appropriately named, awakebutstillinbed (San Jose screamo), plus Sundressed (AZ folk punk), Sunsleeper (SLC sad rock) and Alien Boy, who is a punker from PDX, not from outer space. Remember, all Outer Space shows start and end early (7-ish-10 p.m.) so the kids can get to bed early. Also, remember when you were younger and needed a safe place to play. That's all they ask. Later...
